

Responsible Tourism in Saint Petersburg

Kochenyuk Anatoly

December 11, 2017

Transport

In any kind of transport you should not to leave rubbish. As far as i know, there is no enviromentally-friendly transport in my city, except trams.

Accommodation

There are lots of hotels, hostels and motels in my city. In those you also shouldn't leave rubbish and damage anything. You need to understand basic rules of accommodation, if you choose to live there.

Energy and water

You should conserve water and limit energy use (use energy-efficient things) to be more responsible.

Plants and wildlife

There are a lot of beautiful gardens in Saint-Petersburg. But when I think about wildlife, I picture mostly stray cats and dogs. Don't harm them and don't leave rubbish in the gardens.

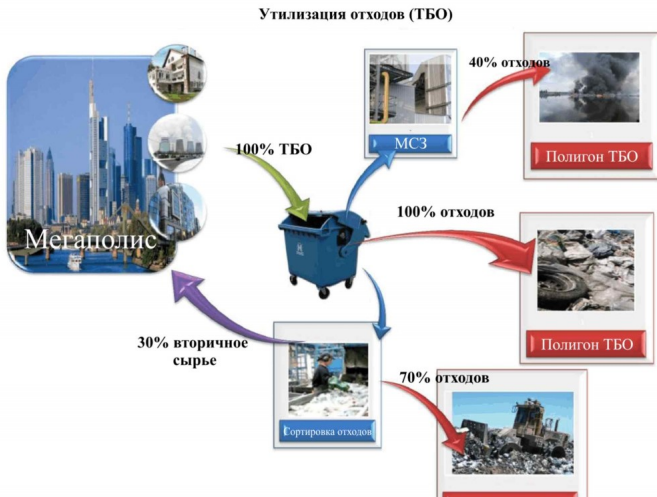

Food

There are many food places. But if you bought any food and ate it, you should put the packaging in the trash can.

Resycling

Whenever you put the rubbish in the trash, it will be either recycled or second used for something.

Souvenirs

If you go to Saint-Peterburg, you should buy some matryoshkas and perhaps balalaika... and maybe vodka, too.

People and social interaction

In Saint-Petersburg you can find any kind of people (aggressive or kind, evil or saint etc.). Because of it social interaction can be very different with different people.

Here is an example of people union with one common idea, roller race:

